

Executive Management Development Program (EMDP)

“Reshaping Leadership in the New World of Work : Developing Personal and Professional Skills to EXCEL, LEAD and THRIVE ”

OVERVIEW:

The business world is going through a paradigm shift due to the rapid acceleration of digitalization, automation and the unprecedented volatility into the environment. We see a quantum shift in demand for talent with new skills in every work domain. Paucity of talent and leadership is posing a serious threat to organizational survival. Connected learning and technology has enabled the workforce to sustain and work beyond pandemic. However human evolution has not kept pace with the pace of digital. The critical challenge for virtually every organization is: How to develop people excellence in a way that drive business excellence.

Investment in learning and growth is the new way to develop and retain talent. Reskilling and up skilling has become the new currency and companies are only going to hire for “future ready skills” and not just degrees.

The daunting question everyone wants to address is: What are the mega trends reshaping the work-life of the future? Do we know where we are headed and are we ready for the future? What are the strengths and skills that are needed to shape up both personally and professionally? How do we prepare ourselves to develop leading edge capabilities that enable people to be productive and future ready?

So, do you have it in you, what it takes to deliver high productivity and exponential performance? Learn now and be future ready!!

Enroll for 2-days management development program designed to enhance your personal, professional and leadership effectiveness
